

Access BPL may sound like a good option, but it is not. Until there can be a conclusive study as to the issue of radio interference, it is not worth the risk of issuing licences for this technology.